MAN'S VOICE (V.O)

I don't know what the hell it is, you know? She's so calm. So cool. Nothing seems to bother her. But I know my wife...and it's only a matter of time before the shit hits the fan.

INT. LIVING ROOM, RUNDOWN APARTMENT - DAY

A large cloud of CIGARETTE SMOKE engulfs the intense eyes of JACOB BLAZE, 28, quick, sharp, and a low tolerance for incompetence. Jacob puffs on his "Black and Mild" cigar with a gloved hand, as he wraps up his thoughts:

JACOB

And she deserves better. Much better. She deserves the world. And you know what, I plan on giving it to her. So, what Disorganized Crime (Screen Series Book 1) do you say, Hector? Can you assist me on my journey?

ACROSS FROM JACOB -

on a couch, sits HECTOR, Disorganized Crime (Screen Series Book 1) 23, heavily tattooed. Hector's right arm is stretched behind his head, as his left arm is wrapped around his back. Like a pretzel, his Disorganized Crime (Screen Series Book 1) hands are handcuffed together. Hector stares at Jacob sharply.

HECTOR

And what the fuck do you expect me to do?

Jacob's hand puts out the cigar on the coffee table, next to a small drug scale and a MASSIVE pile of heroin.

It is now noticeable that Jacob is lean and handsome. Sits in a rocking chair, dressed in his San Francisco Police Department uniform.

JACOB

We're not trying to operate on the human brain here, fuck head, the shit's pretty straight forward.

HECTOR

Guess you'll just have to jog my memory.

Jacob grabs a Glock 19 pistol from the edge of the coffee table, resting it on the arm of the rocking chair. Aims it at Hector.

JACOB

You're really gonna make me repeat myself, aren't you?

HECTOR

Or you could just let Disorganized Crime (Screen Series Book 1) me go.

JACOB

That's cute.

HECTOR

(shrugs)

Worth a try.

JACOB

Look, asshole, I'm one bust away from making detective. So don't fuck with me. Give me the name of your supplier.

HECTOR

What's in it for me again?

Jacob cracks his neck. Growing impatient.

JACOB

Give me a name, and I'll guarantee your bitch ass will do no more than 30 days in county. Fuck with me some more, and it'll be a lifetime.

HECTOR

Fuck Disorganized Crime (Screen Series Book 1) you, Blaze. I want immunity. Disorganized Crime (Screen Series Book 1) No jail time.

JACOB

No can do, amigo. Your ass is lucky I'm still negotiating Disorganized Crime (Screen Series Book 1) at this point.

Jacob rocks back and forth, staring at the ceiling. The gun remains locked on Hector.

JACOB

You should be grateful, though. Shit could be -

BANG!

Startled, Jacob springs from his chair, glancing at the smoking barrel. Then at the deceased Hector. A bullet through his left eye. Jacob breathes heavily.

JACOB

Holy fuck.

Panicked, Jacob spins in circles, contemplating his next move.

JACOB

Shit, shit, shit!

After a moment, he places the Glock on the table, and removes his keys. As he unlocks the cuffs, Disorganized Crime (Screen Series Book 1) Hector's body falls sideways, blood flowing from his eye.

JACOB

Fuck me.

Disorganized Crime (Screen Series Book 1)

Jacob removes the cuffs, then props Hector's body upright, his lifeless eye staring back at him.

Jacob spots a pair of sunglasses on a small table near the couch. He snatches the glasses, placing them over Hector's eyes.

Jacob grabs one of several plastic zip-lock bags off the floor. Takes the spoon from the pile of heroin and quickly shovels powder into the bag.

Jacob seals the bag, stuffs it inside his jacket, and zips it up. He dusts Disorganized Crime (Screen Series Book 1) off any powder on his gloves, then removes them. Does one final scan of the room.

EXT. RUNDOWN APARTMENT BUILDING - DAY

OFFICER DANIELS, 26, leans against the patrol car, smoking a cigarette. Jacob casually strolls out of the building.

OFFICER DANIELS

How'd it go?

JACOB

Complete waste of time.

OFFICER DANIELS

Back to square one, huh?

JACOB

Seems that way.

Jacob heads to the driver's side, opening the door. Disorganized Crime (Screen Series Book 1)

Daniels flicks his cigarette, heading to the passenger side.

OFFICER DANIELS

What now?

Jacob slides on his Ray-Ban sunglasses.

JACOB

How about lunch?

OFFICER DANIELS

Mexican?

JACOB

Cool.

In unison, Disorganized Crime (Screen Series Book 1) both men hop inside the car, slamming the doors. As the car peels out, leaving a BLACK CLOUD of exhaust -
