
ADVANCED PRAISE FOR MADE IN THE USA

During the days of slavery, abolitionists like Theodore Weld subpoenaed the conscience of the nation by having former slaves tell the horrific raw stories of their treatment. In Made in the U.S.A.: The Sex Trafficking of America's Children like manner, Alisa Jordheim is shaking the status quo with the stories told by those formerly trafficked through sex slavery in this book. Made in the U.S.A.: The Sex Trafficking of America's Children If you don't think human trafficking is happening where you live, think again! If you're concerned about this Made in the U.S.A.: The Sex Trafficking of America's Children book disturbing your peace, remember, those bound in sex slavery have no peace. The truth makes us free, and may this book Made in the U.S.A.: The Sex Trafficking of America's Children free us from denial and release us into action.

Ms. Jordheim's book is timely, emotional and grounded in research and personal experience. Through her words, the public sees how the pimps spot and then prey on our vulnerable children. But she doesn't leave us there, she draws attention to the preventive and restorative services that are necessary for children who are victims of commercial sexual exploitation."

Made in the USA is a compelling, heartbreaking, and breathtaking account of the lives that have been detrimentally affected by the travesty of trafficking. The factual connection of pornography being tied to trafficking Made in the U.S.A.: The Sex Trafficking of America's Children is accurately portrayed in Alisa's real-life accounts. Until pornography is addressed widely in creating the demand for trafficking, a dent will Made in the U.S.A.: The Sex Trafficking of America's Children never be made in tackling trafficking. I highly recommend that everyone read these tragic victims' stories, that are happening in our own neighborhoods. This is a worldwide problem now, in which everyone can help. Alisa's book captures exactly the reason why we do what we Made in the U.S.A.: The Sex Trafficking of America's Children do.
