Chapter One The Alien Egg

Due to a God-given moral conscience The Alien Exposed: An Acid Test for the Authentic Anabaptist Love of Truth our feathers ruffle when we hear of damaging injustice done to an innocent being by a cruel enemy. Even though they are just birds, it really bothered me the first time I heard about the brood parasitism of the Cuckoo Bird. The picture on the cover is of a Reed Warbler raising the young of a Common Cuckoo - but why? Why would The Alien Exposed: An Acid Test for the Authentic Anabaptist Love of Truth this small bird be running...or rather... flying itself ragged to supply the food for this huge chick? What happened to its own chicks?

The answer is found in an injustice done to the poor Reed Warbler and many other species of birds by other birds that practice brood or nest parasitism. The Common Cuckoo of Europe is the worst. It watches until a nesting bird leaves its nest of eggs for a short time. Quickly it flies to the nest, pushes out one or two of the other bird's eggs, and lays its own egg in their place. The Cuckoo's egg often looks very similar to the other bird's eggs, but is larger. The hen Cuckoo needs to time things properly so her chick will hatch sooner or at least near the time of the host's eggs. Wikipedia's article on the subject made this statement, "If the hen cuckoo is out-of-phase with a clutch of Eurasian Reed Warbler eggs, she will eat them all so that the hosts are forced to start another brood."

The Reed Warbler The Alien Exposed: An Acid Test for the Authentic Anabaptist Love of Truth or whatever species happens to be victimized in this way will often not know the difference and will brood the Cuckoo's egg along with her own. The Cuckoo egg will usually hatch a little before the other eggs; and, as one author put it, "Shortly after hatching, the young European Cuckoo, using a scoop-like depression on its back, instinctively shoves over the edge of the nest any solid object that it contacts. With the disappearance of their eggs The Alien Exposed: An Acid Test for the Authentic Anabaptist Love of Truth and rightful young, the foster parents are free to devote all of their care to the young cuckoo. Frequently this is an awesome task, since the cuckoo chick often grows much larger than the host adults long The Alien Exposed: An Acid Test for the Authentic Anabaptist Love of Truth before it can care for itself. One of the tragicomic scenes in nature is a pair of small foster parents working like Sisyphus to keep up with the voracious appetite of an outsized young cuckoo.” (www.stanford.edu/)

If the host chicks hatch before the larger Cuckoo it doesn't help because when the Cuckoo hatches it will push them out of the nest or kill them to make more room for itself. Its cry for food is also deceptive as it makes a sound like a nest full of chicks to keep the foster parents working hard, but only one mouth is being fed – one mouth that eats as much as a nest full of Warbler chicks. While the Cuckoo flies off free of responsibility she allows another species to ensure its continuance at the expense of their own offspring. So, the host bird is laboring to support and raise an enemy species that has murdered its own young, and will continue to do so.

The Alien Exposed: An Acid Test for the Authentic Anabaptist Love of Truth

The Brown-headed Cowbird is another species that lays its eggs in other bird's nests. If the host bird notices and kicks out the Cow bird's egg, it is not uncommon for the Cow bird to ransack the other bird's nest and destroy her eggs in retaliation – Mafia style. It seems, The Alien Exposed: An Acid Test for the Authentic Anabaptist Love of Truth therefore, that some birds will maintain the alien egg through fear of the consequences.

Now, if we were birds and this poor Reed Warbler was our neighbor, what would be our duty and obligation? Suppose we see these two parents joyfully working to feed this fat chick which is about three times their size. What if they are very pleased with how junior is growing and are very proud to claim him as their own? Do we just sigh and turn our head knowing that they are ignorantly supporting an enemy species? Do we confront them and devastate them with the horrible truth? What if we also are Reed Warblers and their enemy is also our enemy?

What if we are talking about the grand enemy and deceiver, that old serpent the Devil planting the egg of his own heresy in a zealous but unwary church group? What if his heresy “egg” looks very similar to their own teachings and sentiments, but will grow to destroy other important doctrines and hinder the propagation of the truth? What if this victimized people unknowingly labor and suffer to defend this “hatchling” of the Devil not realizing that they are offending and misrepresenting the very Lord and Savior whom they think they are serving? What if we are their neighbor and we discover the falsehood? Is it loving to let them go on feeling good or do we rock their boat by confronting them with the grievous trickery? Being that the name of the Lord and His cause is what is primarily being damaged; will we not be unfaithful stewards to ignore the dilemma? What if they view us as the enemy and fail to recognize the true enemy? Even if our neighbors are The Alien Exposed: An Acid Test for the Authentic Anabaptist Love of Truth defensive and despise us for trying to enlighten them to the situation, love The Alien Exposed: An Acid Test for the Authentic Anabaptist Love of Truth demands we do our best to bring them back on course so their zeal and energies can be spent forwarding the cause they desire to support in truth and righteousness.
